MEMORANDUM

TO: South Florida State College
District Board of Trustees

FROM: Tom Leitzel

DATE: December 11, 2013

SUBJECT: Annual Planning Workshop

South Florida State College, serving DeSoto, Hardee, and Highlands counties, is the higher education epicenter of the community, providing high quality learning opportunities through a variety of modalities. The key to our success is the committed effort from all individuals, led by a dedicated and experienced faculty, backed up by a talented and caring staff. At the core of service excellence is the undergirding support from our District Board of Trustees who serve at the highest level of organizational governance.

The annual Planning Workshop is the mechanism we use to report progress and confirm our plans for the coming year. As we confirm plans, various tangential activities, including the formulation of the fiscal budget, results in resource allocation to support initiatives.

At the time of my hire, you challenged me to lead with bold conviction, committed to making a difference through our higher education platform. I have not swayed in my convictions to uphold your challenge in the discharge of my daily obligations. I credit an outstanding leadership team with their support, collaboration, and their commitment to uphold the mission of SFSC. I am truly humbled and grateful for my colleagues who welcomed me into their family.

My first five months have been filled with exciting opportunities as I continue to become familiar with my new surroundings. Thank you for providing the opportunity to lead. Thank you for all of your conversations and warm messages of support. I have learned we serve a community that can be transformed through the programs and services offered through South Florida State College. To that end, I remain joyful in hope as we change lives and uplift our core values, which ground us in our sacred covenant to serve.

As I look toward formulating bold goals, I am focused on an operational strategy – to create a “Culture of Service Excellence” at the College that extends into the community. Excellence needs to be a watchword and a mindset. Excellence needs to be interspersed in our actions, through exemplary service in our daily work. You have my pledge that as we serve:

..we will stretch our capabilities,

..we will lead with bold conviction,

..we will provide quality educational opportunities,

..and we will become a responsive community partner to encourage regional economic development.

In short, SFSC will be known for excellence in service to its constituents. This is the backdrop for our Annual Planning Workshop. The meeting will include a focus on what SFSC can become. Through your support and endorsement, it will be a compelling and inspirational calling to establish excellence thresholds through a new vision that becomes a branding strategy for the College.

We have allocated 120 minutes for the Planning Workshop, and it will involve two parts, near-term and long-term planning. The agenda is prepared to reflect on our past accomplishments and to look to the future with optimism, embracing possibilities that go deep into what we can become as an agent of change through our higher education platform.

A small part of the Planning Workshop will be devoted to the consideration of electronic communication devices that facilitate effective and efficient information exchanges. Members of the IT team will be present before the workshop and at break times to answer your questions related to email passwords.

I am grateful for your service, and I look forward to your involvement in our upcoming Planning Workshop. It is an honor to join you in dedicated service.

Introduction

This South Florida State College (SFSC) Strategic Plan ~~2013-2017~~2014-2018 provides direction for prioritizing future initiatives and allocating limited resources. The SFSC Strategic Plan assists the SFSC District Board of Trustees (DBOT) and college employees in focusing their efforts to ~~cost-effectively serve~~ students and their communities.

Comment [vdKC3]: Deleted per Dr. Leitzel and C. van der Kaay

In fall 2008, the broadly based and representative Strategic Planning Task Force (SPT) was created to coordinate the development of the SFSC Strategic Plan. The SPT first reviewed the DBOT Policy 1.02: Vision, Mission, and Institutional Core Values. This review resulted in several recommendations including the addition of a new vision statement.

Enriching our communities through education . . . one life at a time

Additionally, the institutional core values of integrity, service, community, learning, excellence, accountability, and responsibility were reaffirmed and descriptors were revised to clarify their meaning. The new Vision, Mission, and Institutional Core Values policy was adopted by the DBOT in February 2009.

The SPT analyzed several available reference sources that provided information relating to national, state, ~~and county, and community college-local~~ trends, as well as projections to assist in planning for the future. This research resulted in a set of Strategic Planning Assumptions for guiding strategic planning at SFSC.

Simultaneously during fall 2008, the SPT organized a process for gathering input from a wide variety of stakeholders, including students, staff, and various external constituents. A survey was developed and distributed to the identified individuals; feedback was solicited regarding current strengths and weaknesses of the college, community needs, and suggestions for future directions for the college. Surveys were also distributed to students, the community, and employees. Group response rates varied, but the 397 returned surveys from all groups provided a rich array of considerations for initial development of the strategic plan.

The SPT recommended adoption of four strategic goals determined to be core functions for achieving the college vision and mission. These strategic goals provide a framework for organizing, understanding, and responding to survey responses.

1. Identify and meet community educational needs
2. Enable all students to succeed
3. Enable all employees to succeed
4. Ensure institutional effectiveness

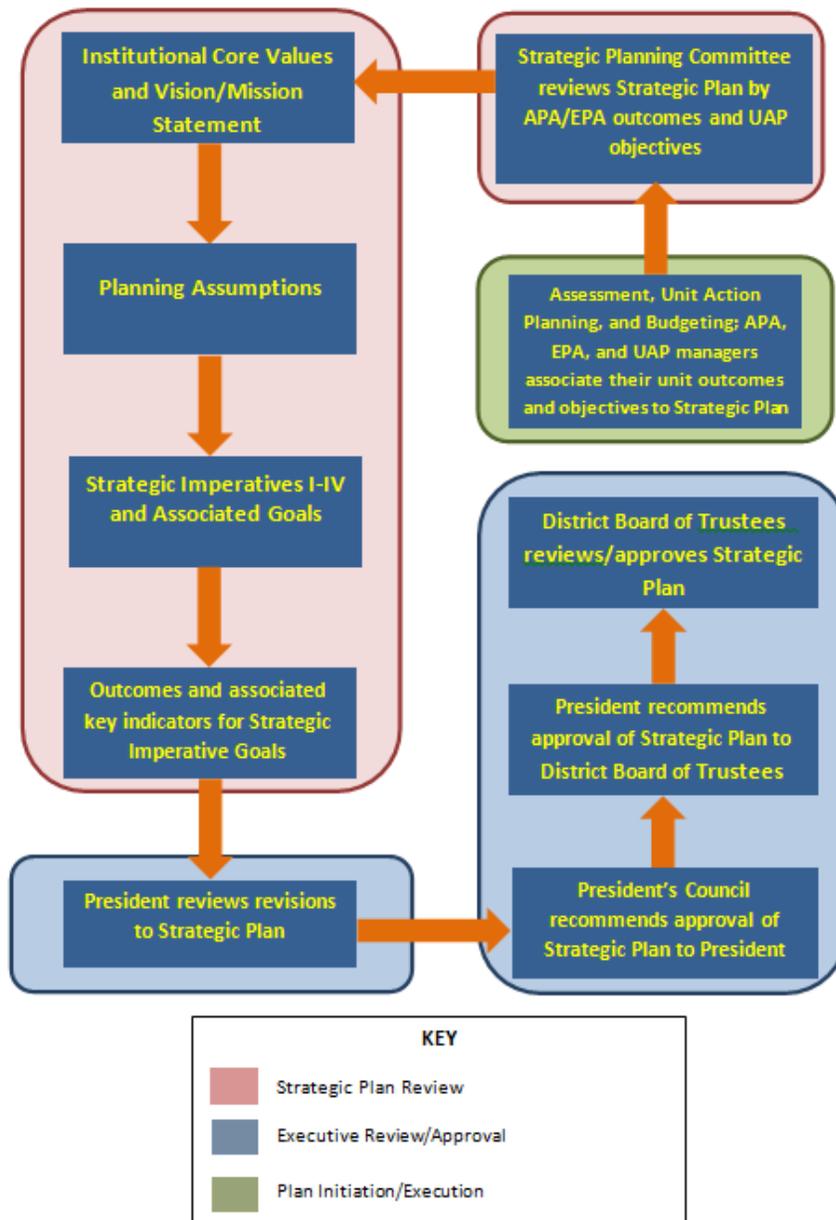

In August 2011, the SPT was formally reorganized into the Strategic Plan Review Committee. The committee is currently tasked with monitoring the strategic plan's progress and recommending changes. A formal and systematic process was adopted to guide the committee's review activities. The committee also adopted a rolling planning cycle that continually looks ahead over a five-year period and updates the plan each year.

~~This proposed SFSC Strategic Plan 2013-2017 was presented to the SFSC DBOT for review, discussion, and consideration.~~

Mission Statement

The function of our organization

South Florida State College is an open-access, higher education institution dedicated to providing a learning-centered environment through quality programs, training, and services. Working in partnership with organizations and communities, the college provides leadership and a comprehensive range of opportunities for the educational, cultural, and economic development of the service district.

The college assists the people of its service district DeSoto, Hardee, and Highlands counties regardless of economic, social, or educational background to achieve success in

- completing an associate degree in preparation for pursuing a baccalaureate or other professional degree or credential;
- completing a baccalaureate degree, associate degree, or certificate related to career and technical preparation to enter the workforce or to improve career circumstances;
- completing college preparatory programs of study including those leading to the high school diploma;
- obtaining basic skills in literacy, numeracy, and citizenship to prosper as a contributing member of society;
- gaining personal, cultural, and global awareness, appreciation, and understanding needed in a complex contemporary society;
- pursuing advanced academic preparation and credentials available through partnerships with colleges and universities; and
- participating in the social, cultural, environmental, and economic development of the communities served by the college.

We believe in the worth of each of our students and, through all of our educational programs and services, we seek to develop human potential and to create brighter futures.

Planning Assumptions

Key points that will shape our future. These assumptions operationally define SFSC's present and future environment

The South Florida State College district, comprised of DeSoto, Hardee, and Highlands counties, has unique demographics, resources, and needs. The planning assumptions listed below generally pertain to the college service area as a whole.

1. The demand for higher education will increase as individuals seek to improve their circumstances in an ever-changing world.

- a. College enrollments in certain programs typically respond inversely to economic cycles—people tend to work more when the economy is good and continue their education more when work is less available. ~~The economic forecast for the next five years remains uncertain.~~ Increased college enrollments during an economic downturn are historically attributed to older adults who have been displaced from the workforce and are seeking new or further training (Kantrowitz , 2010).
- b. The economic forecast for the next five years remains uncertain; however, the state-wide unemployment rate is anticipated to decline gradually through 2016. Payroll job growth may recover to pre-recession levels by 2nd quarter 2016.
- ~~a.~~
- c. Enrollment limits continue at Florida universities. State U~~n~~iversities are limiting first-time college student enrollment and giving preference to transfer students who have completed their associate degrees. ~~Steady enrollment demand for college~~ ~~Transfer programs enrollment at four-year colleges is anticipated.~~ will continue to increase.
- ~~b.~~ Postsecondary students are more likely to attend multiple institutions before earning a degree. Students are becoming increasingly mobile and more apt to pursue non-traditional degree paths.
- d. State colleges serve as a major facilitator of baccalaureate attainment. Research conducted by the National Student Clearinghouse revealed that students transferring to a four-year institution with a two-year degree or certificate were more likely to earn a baccalaureate degree than students without such academic credentials.
- ~~e.~~ The demand for job retraining, upgrading employability skills, and lifelong learning will increase in the highly competitive global economy.
- ~~d.~~ f. Education and training beyond high school will increase in importance for individuals seeking high-demand and fast-growing jobs in our economy. Demand for employment will increase in careers related to science, health care, information technology, business, and emerging industries.

- e.g. The college will remain the primary institution for educational opportunities in this rural area of Florida; its service district.
- f.h. The college will continue to partner with public and private baccalaureate degree-granting institutions to bring additional higher education opportunities to its region.
- g. ~~The college will continue to explore the demand and cost-effectiveness of offering additional baccalaureate programs of study.~~
- h.i. Time limitations and economic pressures will influence students to enroll in distance learning classes and/or classes -at sites closest to their homes and workplaces.
- i.j. Job growth and development will require qualified applicants to display critical thinking and "soft skill" competencies.

As a college diploma becomes more critical, higher education must be accessible to all Americans and meet the diverse and changing student population.

-Spellings Report (2006) Community colleges must reimagine their purposes and practices in order to meet the demands of the future, optimizing results for individuals, communities, and the nation.*

(American Association of Community Colleges, 2012)

Comment [vdKC6]: Move to Introduction

2. Political, environmental, educational, economic, and demographic characteristics of each of the three counties in our rural service district are diverse and unique.

- a. Average per capita income of the service district is much lower than state or national averages. This is due in some part to large numbers of retirees in Highlands county and depressed economic circumstances with low wage and low skill jobs throughout the district.
- b. With the increasing number of retirees impacting the national and local economy, a significant-sizeable and increasing proportion of an older age and retiree population demands a more service-related economy with a high demand for medical, retail, and age-appropriate recreational and leisure opportunities. The organizational culture and structure of the college itself will also be impacted by the anticipated retirements of several members of the administration, faculty, and professional staff within the next five years.
- c. ~~The percentage of minorities is increasing in the region at a faster rate than the majority population.~~ Hispanic enrollments across all academic programs at SFSC have grown steadily since 2001. Hispanic students presently comprise over one-fourth of the college's student population.
- ~~d.~~ d. Florida's population growth rate ~~is currently decelerating. State and regional population growth during the next five years will be slower than in the past decade and may actually decline.~~ is below average as compared to previous decades; however, its growth rate is presently increasing as a result of the state's economic recovery. Florida is expected to be one of the fastest growing for economic recovery in future years.
- e. Enrollments in public and private K-12 schools are projected to ~~remain stable or slightly decrease~~ increase in the next three to five years.
- e-f. High school completion rates in the college's service area fall below state and national averages
- f-g. The average age of the college's associate degree-seeking students has trended younger than state and national averages for community colleges.
- g-h. Qualified adjunct faculty in many disciplines in our ~~rural~~ service district, and particularly in DeSoto and Hardee counties, are scarce.

- e-f. Future students will be increasingly diverse in their background, academic preparation, and demand for educational services.
- a. Increasing numbers of underprepared students, including older adults and minorities needing academic intervention and remediation, are expected.

b. The proportion of first-generation college students will remain high.

c. Statewide and local initiatives will continue to focus on collaborative intervention to decrease~~ing~~ the number of high school students entering college with developmental education needs.

g. State and community colleges have a responsibility and role in strengthening economic development within their service area

3-a. Economic growth and recovery of a region is highly dependent on strong collaborations between local communities and various public/private organizations such as universities, state and community colleges, school districts, and business and industry.

a-b. State and community college-industry partnerships support alignment between academic credentials and job requirements. Cultivating successful partnerships are recognized as an effective way to prepare and train the local workforce for emerging job opportunities.

f.h. Workforce education and training as well as the demand for lifelong learning will continue to be a major focus of the college.

- a. Economic conditions and economic development initiatives may require new or modified educational programs and training.
- b. Agriculture, phosphate mining, health care, and manufacturing industries will continue to be the economic mainstay of the three counties.
- c. Because of its central location and the abundance of available land, water, and natural resources, the area should offer an opportunity for emerging industries, such as alternative energy, bio-fuels/sciences, and medical services.
- d. The demand for high-skills, ~~high wage~~ jobs in the region is growing.
- e. Employees will need to continue their career and professional development to keep pace with and anticipate emerging technologies and employability skills.

b.i. State and community colleges have an established history of providing local communities with cultural enrichment, personal development, and non-academic professional growth opportunities.

g.i. Technology increasingly influences working, learning, and daily living.

- a. Generational influences on learning with technology differ and will require changes in the delivery of educational and ~~training-student~~ services.
- b. The demand for asynchronous and online learning opportunities for students will continue to increase.
- c. Technology competence is required in most workplaces.
- d. The use of asynchronous and distance learning modalities will increase as their educational viability improves and becomes more common and accepted.
- e. ~~The demand for electronic or affordable~~ textbooks and other alternative course materials, with a focus on lower costs, will ~~significantly~~ increase during the next five years. Florida law mandates that school districts must spend half of their instructional-materials budgets on digital content by 2015-2016. ~~currently requires that at least 50 percent of K-12 secondary courses provide digital content via e-texts by 2015-16; this will lead to increased expectations among incoming first-year students at post-secondary institutions.~~

~~h-k.~~ Funding of higher education will remain limited from traditional state and federal sources.

- ~~a.~~ Pressure will continue to increase tuition and fees to offset reduced state funding, alternative funding sources.
- ~~b-a.~~ The aggressive pursuit of public and private grants will be necessary to supplement traditional funding of the college.
- ~~e-b.~~ Private fundraising efforts of the college's programs and foundation will grow in importance to assist students by removing financial barriers and to supplement funding for various college initiatives and operations.
- ~~d-c.~~ Strong private and public partnerships to share and conserve limited resources will be a continuing necessity.

~~h-l.~~ Demands for institutional accountability and effectiveness will continue to increase.

- a. The college will need to embrace innovation and continuous quality improvement efforts in academic and administrative support programs and services.
- ~~b.~~ b. Information gathering and reporting will continue to be a major requirement of the college to monitor continuous improvement, and cost-effectiveness, and student progress and success.
- c. Accrediting agency expectations will require more documented evidence of continuous quality improvement achievements.
- d. Policy makers and policy advocates will promote performance-based funding at the college level. As a result, focus will be placed on these key accountability measures:
  - ~~i.~~ Program completion and graduation rates
  - ~~ii.~~ Transfer rates of associate degree graduates to the upper division
  - ~~iii.~~ Program cost effectiveness
  - ~~iv.~~ Academic performance of developmental education students
- e. College completion will become/will be emphasized through enhanced student development and success initiatives.

Introduction

This South Florida State College (SFSC) Strategic Plan 2014-2018 provides direction for prioritizing future initiatives and allocating limited resources. The SFSC Strategic Plan assists the SFSC District Board of Trustees (DBOT) and college employees in focusing their efforts to serve students and their communities.

In fall 2008, the broadly based and representative Strategic Planning Task Force (SPT) was created to coordinate the development of the SFSC Strategic Plan. The SPT first reviewed the DBOT Policy 1.02: Vision, Mission, and Institutional Core Values. This review resulted in several recommendations including the addition of a new vision statement.

Enriching our communities through education . . . one life at a time

Additionally, the institutional core values of integrity, service, community, learning, excellence, accountability, and responsibility were reaffirmed and descriptors were revised to clarify their meaning. The new Vision, Mission, and Institutional Core Values policy was adopted by the DBOT in February 2009.

The SPT analyzed several available reference sources that provided information relating to national, state, and local trends, as well as projections to assist in planning for the future. This research resulted in a set of Strategic Planning Assumptions for guiding strategic planning at SFSC.

Simultaneously during fall 2008, the SPT organized a process for gathering input from a wide variety of stakeholders, including students, staff, and various external constituents. A survey was developed and distributed to the identified individuals; feedback was solicited regarding current strengths and weaknesses of the college, community needs, and suggestions for future directions for the college. Surveys were also distributed to students, the community, and employees. Group response rates varied, but the 397 returned surveys from all groups provided a rich array of considerations for initial development of the strategic plan.

The SPT recommended adoption of four strategic goals determined to be core functions for achieving the college vision and mission. These strategic goals provide a framework for organizing, understanding, and responding to survey responses.

1. Identify and meet community educational needs
2. Enable all students to succeed
3. Enable all employees to succeed
4. Ensure institutional effectiveness

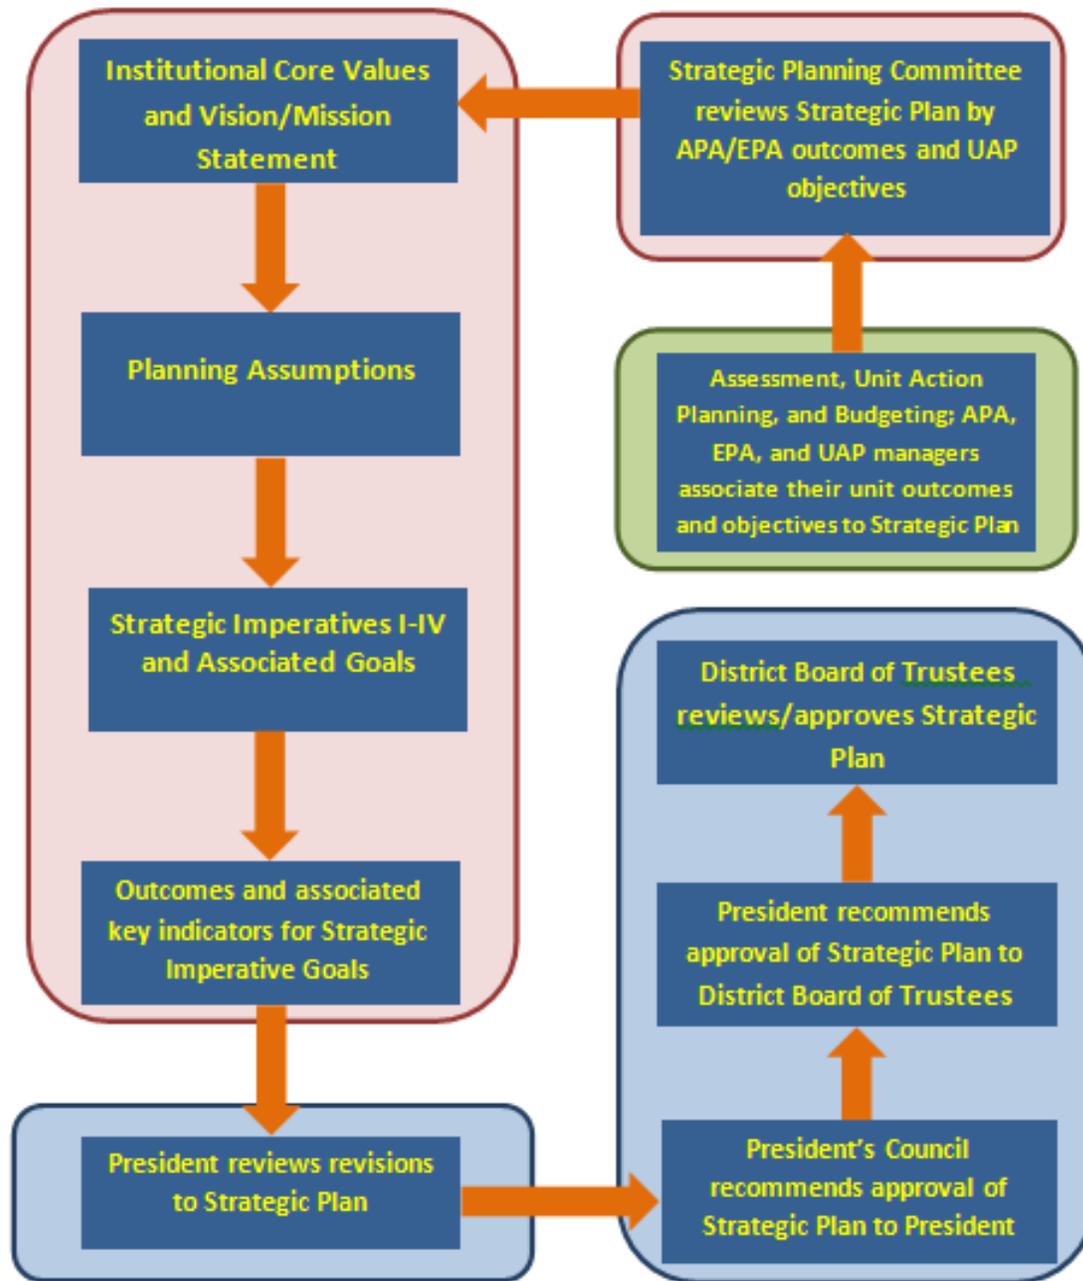

In August 2011, the SPT was formally reorganized into the Strategic Plan Review Committee. The committee is currently tasked with monitoring the strategic plan's progress and recommending changes. A formal and systematic process was adopted to guide the committee's review activities. The committee also adopted a rolling planning cycle that continually looks ahead over a five-year period and updates the plan each year.

Community colleges must reimagine their purposes and practices in order to meet the demands of the future, optimizing results for individuals, communities, and the nation.

South Florida State College is an open-access, higher education institution dedicated to providing a learning-centered environment through quality programs, training, and services. Working in partnership with organizations and communities, the college provides leadership and a comprehensive range of opportunities for the educational, cultural, and economic development of the service district.

The college assists the people of its service district DeSoto, Hardee, and Highlands counties regardless of economic, social, or educational background to achieve success in

- completing an associate degree in preparation for pursuing a baccalaureate or other professional degree or credential;
- completing a baccalaureate degree, associate degree, or certificate related to career and technical preparation to enter the workforce or to improve career circumstances;
- completing college preparatory programs of study including those leading to the high school diploma;
- obtaining basic skills in literacy, numeracy, and citizenship to prosper as a contributing member of society;
- gaining personal, cultural, and global awareness, appreciation, and understanding needed in a complex contemporary society;
- pursuing advanced academic preparation and credentials available through partnerships with colleges and universities; and
- participating in the social, cultural, environmental, and economic development of the communities served by the college.

We believe in the worth of each of our students and, through all of our educational programs and services, we seek to develop human potential and to create brighter futures.

Planning Assumptions

These assumptions operationally define SFSC's present and future environment

The South Florida State College district, comprised of DeSoto, Hardee, and Highlands counties, has unique demographics, resources, and needs. The planning assumptions listed below generally pertain to the college service area as a whole.

1. The demand for higher education will increase as individuals seek to improve their circumstances in an ever-changing world.

- a. College enrollments in certain programs typically respond inversely to economic cycles—people tend to work more when the economy is good and continue their education more when work is less available. Increased college enrollments during an economic downturn are historically attributed to older adults who have been displaced from the workforce and are seeking new or further training (Kantrowitz, 2010).
- b. The economic forecast for the next five years remains uncertain; however, the state-wide unemployment rate is anticipated to decline gradually through 2016. Payroll job growth may recover to pre-recession levels by 2nd quarter 2016.
- c. Enrollment limits continue at Florida universities. Universities are limiting first-time college student enrollment and giving preference to transfer students who have completed their associate degrees. Transfer program enrollment at four-year colleges will continue to increase.
- d. Postsecondary students are more likely to attend multiple institutions before earning a degree. Students are becoming increasingly mobile and more apt to pursue non-traditional degree paths.
- e. State colleges serve as a major facilitator of baccalaureate attainment. Research conducted by the National Student Clearinghouse revealed that students transferring to a four-year institution with a two-year degree or certificate were more likely to earn a baccalaureate degree than students without such academic credentials.
- f. The demand for job retraining, upgrading employability skills, and lifelong learning will increase in the highly competitive global economy.
- g. Education and training beyond high school will increase in importance for individuals seeking high-demand and fast-growing jobs in our economy. Demand for employment will increase in careers related to science, health care, information technology, business, and emerging industries.
- h. The college will remain the primary institution for educational opportunities in its service district.
- i. The college will continue to partner with public and private degree-granting institutions to bring additional higher education opportunities to its region.

- j. Time limitations and economic pressures will influence students to enroll in distance learning classes and/or classes at sites closest to their homes and workplaces.
- k. Job growth and development will require qualified applicants to display critical thinking and “soft skill” competencies.

2. Political, environmental, educational, economic, and demographic characteristics of each of the three counties in our rural service district are diverse and unique.

- a. Average per capita income of the service district is much lower than state or national averages. This is due in some part to large numbers of retirees in Highlands county and depressed economic circumstances with low wage and low skill jobs throughout the district.
- b. With the increasing number of retirees impacting the national and local economy, a sizeable and increasing proportion of an older age and retiree population demands a more service-related economy with a high demand for medical, retail, and age-appropriate recreational and leisure opportunities. The organizational culture and structure of the college itself will also be impacted by the anticipated retirements of several members of the administration, faculty, and professional staff within the next five years.
- c. Hispanic enrollments across all academic programs at SFSC have grown steadily since 2001. Hispanic students presently comprise over one-fourth of the college’s student population.
- d. Florida’s population growth rate is below average as compared to previous decades; however, its growth rate is presently increasing as a result of the state’s economic recovery. Florida is expected to be one of the fastest growing for economic recovery in future years.
- e. Enrollments in public and private K-12 schools are projected to increase in the next three to five years.
- f. High school completion rates in the college’s service area fall below state and national averages
- g. The average age of the college’s associate degree-seeking students has trended younger than state and national averages for community colleges.
- h. Qualified adjunct faculty in many disciplines in our service district, and particularly in DeSoto and Hardee counties, are scarce.

3. Future students will be increasingly diverse in their background, academic preparation, and demand for educational services.

- a. Increasing numbers of underprepared students, including older adults and minorities needing academic intervention and remediation, are expected.

- b. The proportion of first-generation college students will remain high.
- c. Statewide and local initiatives will continue to focus on collaborative intervention to decrease the number of high school students entering college with developmental education needs.

4. State and community colleges have a responsibility and role in strengthening economic development within their service area.

- a. Economic growth and recovery of a region is highly dependent on strong collaborations between local communities and various public/private organizations such as universities, state and community colleges, school districts, and business and industry.
- b. State and community college-industry partnerships support alignment between academic credentials and job requirements. Cultivating successful partnerships are recognized as an effective way to prepare and train the local workforce for emerging job opportunities.

5. Workforce education and training as well as the demand for lifelong learning will continue to be a major focus of the college.

- a. Economic conditions and economic development initiatives may require new or modified educational programs and training.
- b. Agriculture, phosphate mining, health care, and manufacturing industries will continue to be the economic mainstay of the three counties.
- c. Because of its central location and the abundance of available land, water, and natural resources, the area should offer an opportunity for emerging industries, such as alternative energy, bio-sciences, and medical services.
- d. The demand for high-skills jobs in the region is growing.
- e. Employees will need to continue their career and professional development to keep pace with and anticipate emerging technologies and employability skills.

6. State and community colleges have an established history of providing local communities with cultural enrichment, personal development, and non-academic professional growth opportunities.

7. Technology increasingly influences working, learning, and daily living.

- a. Generational influences on learning with technology differ and will require changes in the delivery of educational and student services.
- b. The demand for asynchronous and online learning opportunities for students will continue to increase.
- c. Technology competence is required in most workplaces.
- d. The use of asynchronous and distance learning modalities will increase as their educational viability improves and becomes more common and accepted.
- e. The demand for electronic or affordable textbooks and other alternative course materials, with a focus on lower costs, will increase during the next five years. Florida law mandates that school districts must spend half of their instructional-materials budgets on digital content by 2015-2016.

8. Funding of higher education will remain limited from traditional state and federal sources.

- a. Pressure will continue to increase alternative funding sources.
- b. The aggressive pursuit of public and private grants will be necessary to supplement traditional funding of the college.
- c. Private fundraising efforts of the college's programs and foundation will grow in importance to assist students by removing financial barriers and to supplement funding for various college initiatives and operations.
- d. Strong private and public partnerships to share and conserve limited resources will be a continuing necessity.

9. Demands for institutional accountability and effectiveness will continue to increase.

- a. The college will need to embrace innovation and continuous quality improvement efforts in academic and administrative support programs and services.
- b. Information gathering and reporting will continue to be a major requirement of the college to monitor continuous improvement, cost-effectiveness, and student progress and success.
- c. Accrediting agency expectations will require more documented evidence of continuous quality improvement achievements.
- d. Policy makers and policy advocates will promote performance-based funding at the college level. As a result, focus will be placed on these key accountability measures.
- e. College completion will become/will be emphasized through enhanced student development and success initiatives.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Florida College System Presidents

FROM: Randy Hanna Randy Hanna

DATE: August 23, 2013

SUBJECT: Senate Bill 1720 – Developmental Education Reform Implementation

The passing of Senate Bill 1720 during the 2013 legislative session has launched the Florida College System into action and I applaud the active engagement I have seen throughout the state. While there are admitted challenges to implementation, the legislation also offers great opportunity for institutional flexibility in accelerating student progression and success. Pursuant to the new requirements in s. 1008.30, F.S., you are required to submit “a plan to implement the developmental education strategies...to the Chancellor of the Florida College System for approval no later than March 1, 2014, for implementation no later than fall semester 2014.” As a result of a workshop held in Cape Coral, Florida this summer, with representation from nearly every college, the attached template has been developed for your developmental education implementation plan submission.

The legislation requires each Florida College System institution board of trustees to develop a plan; however, boards may delegate to you as its designee the responsibility of submitting the plan for approval. In an effort to assist your implementation efforts, I am requesting that developmental education implementation plans be submitted to the Division of Florida Colleges by January 15, 2014. By doing so, you will be guaranteed approval by March 1, 2014. This is intended to facilitate institutional communications and planning prior to the closing of the spring term.

RANDALL W. HANNA

CHANCELLOR, THE FLORIDA COLLEGE SYSTEM

Please send your completed plans by email to Ms. Julie Alexander at julie.alexander@fldoe.org. Ms. Alexander will conduct the initial review and contact your chief academic and student affairs officers if questions arise. Once approved, you will receive notification in the form of a letter from me.

I know your teams are working diligently to develop plans. To assist with those efforts, planning for a Developmental Education Summit is underway. The summit is tentatively scheduled for October 25, 2013, in conjunction with the October Councils of Instructional and Student Affairs meeting. As soon as the date is confirmed and details are available, I will share more information.

As we approach the spring, I encourage your continued commitment to developmental education reform and ask that you maintain open lines of communication with me as issues and implementation questions arise. I also welcome ideas and offer my team to assist you.
